ALL OVER!

The Primary is a Thing of the Past and Quietness Pervades the Land.
It is Time For Thought.

MOST OF THE FIGURES ARE UPSET.

Last Friday a beautiful Spring morning flashed athwart the land and ere the sun had shown his radiant face from behind the gates of the East a battle-royal had begun. Horse and rider, pedestrian and soforth, clad in Primary apparel, some sober, some three "shots" or more in the "wind," wended their way to the poles, some with minds fully matured and some yet to be "fixed" after they got there. Thus and thus the great mass of Republican humanity assembled to engage in selecting a ticket for November.

It is likely that some of the very strongest men in the county were on the ballots to be voted for and apparently a strong fight

Following is the total, majority and plurality vote received by all the candidates throughout the county:

SQUIBBS.

The short stick reached further than the long stick in the County Judge's race.

William Breeding has been in sight twice, but—it's actually too bad, aint it, Will?

Little John Ison made a clean, manly fight, they say, and was "so near, yet so far."

Just two votes, Wash.. just two votes, but it was enough! Again, "so near, yet so far."

Since Friday many a patriot has been agonizing, yea, sweating great drops and wondering at what moment official lightning might not strike him.

BURNED OUT

There was a great battle raging between two opposing armies. The objective point was just ahead. When the battle was at its hottest and with muffled cannon, another army slipped up and carried off the honor. The two armies have been wondering ever since where they are "at" now.

Personally, I am never, never again going to say anything disrespectful of a rolling stone. Out where I live there is a high bank, and every day the nice, big stones roll down into my yard. Then my gardener takes 'em and uses them to put around flower beds.

BURNED OUT

Saturday night about 11 o'clock the Hotel run by E. M. Webb at Appalachia, Va., was burned together with all its contents. The fire broke out in the parlor of the building in some unknown way and was beyond control before assistance could be had. Mr. Webb's loss will amount to over two thousand dollars. The Building was worth about ten thousand dollars partly insured.

Why do we say, "As square as a dollar?" A dollar isn't square at all; it is round—and not very much (a)round at that!

SPRING-TIME

There is no season of the year like this. Across the hills and through the vales comes that peculiar lassitudinous feeling that is somewhat akin to poetry. The waters run lazily along and the little minnow sidles up to his mate and they go to some little shady nook. The fowls of the air dress up their plumage and chant their most lovable notes. The mullen stalk that stood on the hill-side, nodding in the wind, shakes out its fuzzy head and drops to the ground, the old sow again stretches her bony frame and roots in the mire for a sprouting nut, yea, all nature puts on her best clothes and—well, really feels good.

The Country Newspaper

The average country editor, like the average citizen, is honest and desirous of good government and a healthy social atmosphere. He may and does make mistakes, but when he does it is of the head and not of the heart. How few people realize the value and purpose of the country newspaper? Its value, little as you think about cannot be measured in dollars and cents and its purpose is to carry world-wide intellectual food to its readers. Think of the greatness of this mission. There no character in the world to be pitted more than the person whose mind has starved for want of pure healthy food. Not of the dime novel trashy sort but of the pure and uplifting.

Bronson Dead.

Chas. J. Bronson one of the best known men and politicians of the state died suddenly at his home at Lexington a few days ago. He had held many important positions during his life and will be much missed by his political associates.

DIXIE WEBB DEAD.

Dixie, the eleven-year-old daughter of the late Dr. David L. Webb, died at the home of her mother on Bottom Fork last Saturday morning. The little girl had been afflicted for quite awhile with catarrh of the head and this brought about her demise. We extend sympathies to the bereaved friends.

OFF FOR THE HOLE.

Saturday morning, bright and early, most of the defeated candidates gathered here and were given tickets for the Bull-hole. Just as the great conclave had gathered their little "packs" and trudged away some one suggested that they all give bond, waiving execution till after the November election, and thus save the expense of fitting up new quarters for others at that time. This was quickly done and all returned to their homes, amid much rejoicing, sadder, poorer, and it is hoped, much wiser men.

Tom Combs May Run

Thos. A. Combs of Lexington it is said will soon announce for the Democratic Nomination for Governor of our state. Mr. Combs is a native of Breathitt County and is one of the shrewdest political fighters in the state. Ben Johnson of the Second Congressional District is also spoken of as a candidate.

Get your muck rake down. The frost is almost out of the ground.

Many a man's failure can be traced to his wife's desire for success.

LOVES THE MOUNTAINS.

Bowling Green, Ky.
April 16th 1909.

Dear Friends and Readers of the Eagle: Since darkness has settled down over the earth I have retired to our little room and find my mind in a very meditative mood. I can see the dear old streets of Whitesburg jostled and crowded at this hour all anxious and very anxious to learn the result of the Primary which has just passed off. I can hear the happy, hearted laugh of Dan Fields, the flash of the ready wit of Bill Dug and the serene chuckle of Ira Fields: I can almost hear the curses and groans of some honest fellows who have watched the proceedings of the day and I know that those Rules that I set up and printed have been kept sacred. My experience teaches me that clean politics is a rare article and yet I hope that dear old Letcher county has done the right thing. Speaking of Letcher county, speaking of the mountains arouses fire in my democratic blood. Some how or other I learned to love those hills and the inhabitants thereof, I bless every one of them. I unconsciously find myself tied to them by bands of steel. There I took my first drafts of sobriety and there I think I plucked a mountain jewel. At the foot of main street in the little old smoke ridden office of the Mountain Eagle I hit some of the hardest licks of my life. There I learned to love all the children of Letcher county and there I formed acquaintances that will last as long as I have a memory.

Dear Editor, I know I need not advise you, but you cannot engage in another work that will redound to the honor and glory of the mountains like that in which you are already engaged and may the brawn and brain and muscle of that hill country unite in holding up your hands. I know, in your physical weakness, you often think of throwing down the gauntlet, surrendering to adversity, but my very dear friend, hoist higher the banner, and as Eld. McKean would say, some how or other God will bless you and bring to you the laurels of victory.

I am working every day. Our health is good and we eat, sleep and live right at home. Like some one of old said, slightly paraphrased, "All that I am now and all that I hope to be, I owe to Whitesburg and Letcher county."

Wishing the Eagle unbounded success and all my friends good luck, I am as ever, and ever.

Your Friend

KARL E. DAVIS.

First Love

Did you ever see a young man just about the time that the down on his upper lip begins to sprout, fall suddenly in love? Behold what a change! His eyes begin to brighten, his voice to quiver and poetry akin to ecstasy sits enthroned in his very being. He is an object of pity and compassion. By and by when the fever is off and he sees himself in his own kleidoscope he tucks his head in shame and hies away to the tall timber and stays awhile. When he comes out of his retreat he is indeed a changed being fit for the association of the refined and the sensible.

CHILDREN'S CORNER

Dear Editor and Eaglets:

I come for the first time with this short letter. My home is on Linefork. I am a reader of the Eagle and would like to get in the little folks corner. We are having lots of logging down here and I have been helping for some few days. I will come again.
Your cousin
W. M. WHITAKER
Banks Ky.

Dear Little Eaglets: I have just read all the Cousins letters and given it to sister to read. I will write you a few lines you can't imagine how it pleases me to read the new cousins letters. Yes Silas I am indeed sorry for Mr. Bentley for I have a sister who has had to walk on crutches twice, and if I were a voter I think that I would vote for him. Cousins all of you come again.
Your cousin,
Joseph W. Adams.
Dongola, Ky.

Dear Editor and Eaglets:

Here I come again after a long delay. I am so glad to see so many little new cousins coming and writing such good letters. Hope they will write every month. I think there is nothing like the dear old Mountain Eagle and I never stop until I read all the little letters, especially. Wish we could get some more letters from the soldier boys for their dear mothers sake. Come again, cousins.
Your little friend
SARAH E. ADAMS
Dongola Ky.

Dear Editor:—The Primary is all over and I am so glad. We can now plant corn and read The Eagle. I am seven years old and hope to make a smart man when I get big. I aim to try to make an editor and run a newspaper like the Mountain Eagle and teach little boys and girls how to read and write things to be printed. Please print this for me.
Your little friend,
HARVEY W. STALLARD.
OLD UNION.

OLD UNION.

At the present time I am not able to say anything in regard to the condition of Mrs. J. H. Adams' arm, which was injured by being thrown from a horse two weeks ago. We fear an operation will have to be performed. Mr. S. C. Tyree has moved to his farm at this place from London, his son Willard is much improved from a severe case of pneumonia.

Health is very good at present in our neighborhood.

Wade Sexton severely wounded himself by cutting his foot with an ax but he is able to walk with the aid of a crutch.

Mr. F. M. Tompkins mine foreman of the Stonega mines accompanied by J. H. Adams of this place has been prospecting no information in regard to their business.

Willie Sergeant has been in the wagon spoke business for the past two months.

John Sergeant is in South Ga. teaching school he is contemplating his return to this county in due time to teach in this county the coming school year.

J. H. Adams planted four acres of Irish potatoes and sowed ten bushels oats, clover etc. says he likes the country fine. Sometimes.

Hello Editor and Cousins:

As I have just read so many interesting letters from the little children. I will write again. I cannot find words in which to express my appreciation for the pleasure and benefit I derive from reading the dear old Mountain Eagle. No truer words than the following have been written:

"Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam,
Be it ever so humble there's no place like home."

A happy home, filled with kindness and love, is the truest type of heaven in all this wide, dark world. There is no place so sweet and welcome as at home. It is a place of rest, and you may find it peace and contentment. There are many ways in which we may add peace and happiness to our home. Don't save all your loving smiles for the outside world—be kind to everybody; kind words cost nothing, yet they are worth their weight in gold. We sometimes wait until our friends and loved ones are dead to speak kindly of them. The flowers which should have been strewn in the pathway are cold and still. Kind words help the discouraged ones and somehow make their burdens easier to bear. Kind words spoken after we are dead can do us no good; flowers on the coffin cast no fragrance backward over the troubled way.

Hope to see this in print I will come again.

CALLIE STALLARD.

Colly, Ky.

Dear Eagle:—Are you dead? Papa caught a large eagle in a steel-trap a few days ago and I am afraid it might be you. But it surely was not as this old eagle had caught three beautiful young lambs before papa captured it. I am a little boy nine years old, and we are delighted each week when The Eagle arrives. I will write you again if I find out you have not been caught. I am coming over soon to see you make Eagles.

Your little friend,
JAMES P. STIDHAM.

WE'RE GLAD.

Waiving personal feelings and dropping a tear on the bier of our defeated friends in the Primary, many of whom consisted of real worth, buried beneath an avalanche of votes, we stick up our tired hands and declare that we are glad it is over.

With trembling and fear we shouldered the responsibility, a very ticklish one, of slinging printer's ink for all the candidates without fear or favor, and glad again we are that we have succeeded in keeping our personal feelings deep down beneath the surface. Deep down in our hearts, gentlemen, we thank you for your patronage and hope to merit more of it in the future. We have rode the waves, gentlemen, the best we could, and can go on the tenor of our way believing that we have done our duty.

Arrested

Monday Sheriff Crawford arrested Thos. M. Barron the foreman employed on the Eagle and took him to jail. The arrest was made on a telegram from Georgetown charging with felony.

Mr. Barron seems to know nothing whatever of the charge. He will await in jail here until the arrival of officers from Georgetown.

EDITORIAL

GLORIOUS SPRING-TIDE.

In another column we mention the fact that it is spring-time. Well, for emphasis only, we repeat the fact, not that you, gentle reader, do not already know it but that your attention may be called to the importance, the vast importance of the occasion. Now, the birds come to bid the farmer "get a hustle on." The flowers bloom to bedeck his turbid path to the corn-field high up on the hill-side in the head of the hollow; the peaceful whip-poor-will twit-twees on the gatepost at the eventide to coax the tired farmer into restful snores. Ah, happy farmer, the position you hold, in the minds of sensible people, is envied by them and commands the plaudits of the whole world! "By the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread," was the command of old, and as that truth was heralded forth on its directly divine mission, I imagine the bread became sweeter. Therefore, proud patriots of the soil, bold builders of the home, royal carvers and architects and builders of nations shoulder your home-spun plow-stocks, jerk the winter kinks out of that old "critter" and wade out in your heaven-blessed work.

AS TO THE PRIMARY.

As a medium of public expression, what shall we say of the recent Republican Primary? We can express ourselves in very few words and short phrases by saying that we got about all we craved out of it, and hope all of our friends succeed as well. We enlisted in the work to do our duty and we sleep well at night a very good sign that we did. However, we long in our dreams for another.

We shall say nothing of the rumors, the ravings and cursings with which the air seems to be filled. Of the cause of these we know practically nothing. They say a soldier loves a foe who fights fair and we guess from our experience that this is true.

The Eagle has its policy for the future already carved out. It will have nothing to do or say as to the broils and political quarrels of any one or parties. Its policy is not bought or bound but from a purely business standpoint it knows this is right. So, with these few remarks we dismiss matters like the above from our mind and attempt to get settled again.

JUST A WORD.

The Editor of this paper is a sworn friend to law and order. He believes that in the enforcement of the law lies our only hope as a free people. That the inalienable rights and blood-bought liberty of our people is safe only when the strong arm of the law is upheld. For a number of years the wing of peace, sobriety and civilization has been spread over the country. Whether the enforcement of the laws of the land or the good sense of our mountaineers has brought this about we do not profess to know. We believe it has been wrought by both.

At this particular moment thirty-six strong, and as we believe, sensible men are sitting on the "seats of the mighty," in judgment for or against the welfare of our people. The writer knows personally every one of them and he believes they are honest men or they would not have been in the place they occupy. He believes he knows their intention. He believes that the Grand Jury will inquire diligently as the law demands into every violation and indict where a case can be made. Don't be afraid gentlemen to espouse the cause of your country. Something must be done for our vote selling populace if we have one and if there is any doubt as to the guilt of the party investigated indict anyhow.

The man who will mix with a suspicious crowd of sellers on election day ought to be scared at least from his associations.

Don't be deaf to the appeals of hundreds of honest men over the country, go after them with gloves off. The man that can buy himself into office with such "stuff" is pitiable in the extreme and the creature bought is fit only to live in the region of the damned.

Appalachia, Va.

Miss Nellie Harper, visited at Inman Saturday night and Sunday.

A box supper was given at Inman Saturday night in order to raise money to build a Methodist church here in Appalachia.

Rev. Haynes of Elizabethtown Tenn., is conducting a series of meetings here this week.

Sunday evening Mrs. Tip Kilbourn rocked her nine months old baby to sleep, placed it on the bed and stepped across the street to speak to a neighbor. And on returning she found that the child had in some way fastened itself between the foot board and the spring, and was dead when she returned. This very sad affair has cast a gloom over this entire vicinity. The child was buried Monday at Kelly View.

While drilling for water in north Appalachia a vein of gas was struck at a depth of 101 feet and as the drilling continued to the depth of 401 feet the flow of gas became so strong that the drillers had to stop. Those familiar with natural gas say that it will be found in quantities sufficient for domestic use in this town.

M.E. Addington.

THAT BIG EDITION.

Now that the Primary is all over why not all unite in hustling up that Industrial Edition of the Eagle? Every wide-awake Mountaineer ought to be glad to do something and we will not believe otherwise until we know. Every lick struck will be for the honor, glory and upbuilding of Letcher County and our beloved hill-country. As one man, let us act. June 1st is the date.

ACTUALLY TRIED IT

TOOK HIS MEDICINE AND IS NOW AT HOME.

WHAT HE SAW AND HEARD

Editor Mountain Eagle: Allow me to say to the good people of old Letcher that I have just returned from the awful Bull Hole and what I saw and heard there is almost beyond description. The first one I saw when I arrived was a young fellow whom I did not recognize. He was sitting astride a pole with his feet thoroughly thonged with strips of raw bull-hide. He was gesticulating wildly and now and then dropping into music as follows: I want to go home so bad, I want to go home To-Lou, I was beat by only two, Oh, I want to go home To Lou. This fellow looked bleary eyed and I decided that he was a chewing gum fiend by the song he was singing.

We all got to the hole about 8 o'clock Saturday morning and after prayer, if poor defeated candidates can pray, and after a kind of a caucus we decided that the men who spent the most money should go down first. That the ones who did the most swapping should go next. Then it was decided that the man who received the smallest vote should go last, and after footing up all the totals it was readily seen that I should land on top. I saw at a glance that on account of my height, this arrangement could be used to my advantage as the Hole would be so full that I could crawl out. When I descended they were all in an uproar. The Jailers were lined up against the Assessors, the County clerk against the Sheriffs, the Supts., against Henry Yonts, etc. Nobody accused me of being tied on to anybody else as it was easily seen that I had nothing to tie too. About this time quiet was restored and J. C. Day wanted to write an accident policy for the whole outfit, Billy Dug was offering hame-strings at sixty cents per dozen and Randall Day was trying to organize a Masonic Lodge. But when the balloting began it was found that there were not enough black balls to go around and so the thing broke up with a row.

Knowing that a change of climate is detrimental to health I took along as I thought a bottle of Bell's Pine Tar Honey and along in the afternoon several of the boys claimed they were very sick and thought they were taking Grippe, Mumps, Distemper, Chicken-pox, Hives, Croup and Hydrophobia. Inquiry was made to ascertain whether there was any medicine in our Hotel. I gallantly brought forth my bottle and found that I had made a mistake and instead of the Pine Tar I had brought a bottle of Wine of Cardui a purely female remedy. I then explained the nature of the treatment, that it might be dangerous for them to take it. But my argument with the boys had about the same effect as the one I made to the people in my race against Henry Yonts. They wanted a dose and they got it. In about fifteen minutes it took effect and they all imagined they were women of all ages and nationalities. Shade Combs wanted to know how many yards of calico it would take to make him a Mother Hubbard. Arnett Mitchell thought himself the mother of twins and was singing them to sleep; Sam Collins was using his jacket for a corset and Elbert Bentley was buttoning it up behind; Luther Baker said he thought there ought to be three gores in a dress skirt and four in the waist; W. R. Boggs wanted to know when was the best time to plant bunch beans and all the rest assumed feminine qualities in every respect. About this time all began talking at once and I decided as I had gone in last I would come out first, so I slid out and here I am so much the better for the experience.

I want to thank my friends who voted for me for their support and can truthfully say I did not try to mislead anyone, but was defeated by fraud, deceit, trickery and misrepresentation. To the people who voted against me I hold no ill will (except in very few instances,) as I believe they were honestly deceived, and I feel sure that before the November election they will have learned that I was in the right.

Yours Truly,
W. H. BLAIR,
Colson, Ky.

W. R. BOGGS

To my friends who stood by me in my race for Assessor, either by voting for me or speaking a kind word in my behalf: You will please accept my heart-felt thanks for same and when I can serve you, I am at your service.

Your Friend,
W. R. Boggs.

Pertinent Paragraphs

Every man who takes your measure does not make you a suit of clothes.

It is better to be a man of one idea than to be a man with a lot of them that won't work.

I wonder sometimes if the writers who tell us to be joyful ever practice what they preach.

The fellow of whom everybody speaks well never gets very far in this world. It's the fighter who wins.

Technically speaking, it would not be half as much fun to be rolling in wealth as rolling in a clover bed.

YOUR UNCLE GEORGE.

Old Uncle George Washington had been patiently building a scaffold around a tall chimney. Suddenly the light boards collapsed and came down on Uncle George like an avalanche.

"Ah," said the owner of the chimney as he came out to discover the cause of the noise. "I see you are on the job, Uncle George?"

Uncle George rubbed the dust out of his eyes and slowly emerged from the wreck.

"No, sah," he responded, "instead of being on the job de job am on me."

Jury From Knott

Sheriff Crawford summons a jury from Ball's Fork in Knott County to try Floyd Frazier for the murder of Mrs. Ellen Flanery the circumstances of which are well known by our readers. So Sheriff Crawford left immediately for Ball's Fork in Knott County directed to summon sixty men from which a jury is to be selected. Frazier, it will be remembered has twice stood trial at this place for the crime with which he is charged, the first resulting in a hung jury, while the last one brought from Floyd County resulting in a death penalty. The trial is set for today and it is likely that it will come up as set. There are a great number of witnesses and evidently several days will be consumed before the trial end.

Just Hush!

The Primary over and spring peeping over the hill-tops it is time for our people to awake as to their farm work. Let this years planting be double to what it was last year. We cannot raise too much material on the farm. If three times the amount that is produced on the farm was raised in Letcher county it would not be a waste by any means but every iota of it would bring a good price. Again let every man
"get a move on" that that kind of prosperity which is lasting may come to our county. With cribs full of corn and barns groaning with the garnered products of the farm prosperity perches on every man's front gate-post.

CHOICES FROM RELIGIOUS FIELDS

RUSSIA FOR CHRIST.

Mission of Baron Woldemar Uxkull to His People in the Dark Lands.

One of the most interesting speakers at the last Northfield conference, says the Record of Christian Work, was Baron Woldemar Uxkull of Russia. The baron was converted from infidelity in middle life, and is now fired with the great purpose of having the gospel proclaimed broadcast throughout the Russian empire.

He declares that the need in that dark land to-day is appalling. He calls it the largest unevangelized field in the world. He says that in all Russia there is not a single training school for evangelical ministers; while in the vast territory of Siberia there is no gospel minister. He has come to America to raise $100,000 to establish in his native land a training school for ministers and Christian workers on the lines of the Moody Bible Institute in Chicago. The baron is president of the Baptist Union in Russia and a vice-president of the World's Baptist Alliance. He is accompanied by his wife, who is a charming woman.

During the Northfield conference the baron told the story of his conversion, and also of the present religious condition and needs of Russia. He was brought up on the large family estate in Esthonia, but found no real peace or satisfaction in life until he accepted Christ as his personal Saviour. Some time after his conversion he was baptized in his own castle by one of the peasant Christians, and he became a member of the peasants' church. At their request he then became pastor of their church, and now devotes time and money to the interests of the work.

THE MINISTER'S SALARY.

General Move to Increase the Amount to $1,000 or More.

Reports from religious gatherings in all parts of the country indicate that the minister's salary is receiving deserved consideration. The laymen are coming to recognize the heroism of the devoted men who give their time and thought to the church for salaries of four, five or six hundred dollars a year, and are manifesting a commendable disposition to remove the necessity for the continuance of such unnecessary sacrifice. The sustentation committee of the Rock River conference of the Methodist church reported at its meeting in Chicago that it had decided to make an effort to raise enough money so that no minister might receive less than $1,000 a year, and the laymen of the conference at their own meeting adopted by acclamation a resolution favoring the increase in salaries. The Methodists are especially active this fall in the matter. The Chicago Tribune has received reports from ten conferences in Illinois and neighboring states at which the subject was discussed and the opinion expressed that unless quick action were taken there would be a dearth of preachers. What may be regarded as an extreme illustration of the present tendency comes from the Des Moines conference, held at Council Bluffs, Ia., where it was reported that 37 of the 217 pulpits are vacant because of the insufficient salary, whereas ten years ago there were more preachers than pulpits in the conference.

Orphan Girls Remembered.
Of the many wonderful things in the world, few if any are more wonderful than the manifestations of the care which God takes of the helpless. There was a splendid illustration of this care, exercised through human instruments, in the will of the late Robert N. Carson of Philadelphia. Mr. Carson bequeathed an estate worth $5,000,000 for purpose of founding and maintaining a college for orphan girls between the ages of five and ten years who have neither father nor mother. They are to receive such training as will fit them for a life of usefulness, and are then to be discharged at the age of 18 or less. The girls are not to be dressed in uniform, but are to be allowed the exercise of some degree of individual taste.

Rockefeller to Build Church.
The largest and most novel church in the country is to be built by John D. Rockefeller on the site of the Euclid Avenue Baptist church, at Cleveland, O. It will be 10 stories high, and will have gymnasiums, lecture rooms, rooms for clubs and societies for men, women and children, training schools for missionaries, servants, artisans, a restaurant, dormitories and a hospital.

To Be Raised to Bishopric.
The congregation of the propagandists has decided to raise the vicarage apostolic of Saskatchewan, a district of the northwest territories of Canada, to a bishopric and change its name to Prince Albert. Mar. Albert Pascal will be appointed bishop.

A WASP LOOSE.

She had accepted his offer to escort her home in the taxi.
"I have been wondering," he remarked on the way, "whether it is on account of my umbrella or my company that I am allowed to come with you."
"It is neither," she replied; "it is on account of my new hat."—Home

DID HAVE WORD RIGHT ONCE

Bad Speller Fooled Critics Who Had Idea He Could Not Get It Correctly.

Some bad spellers hit on a phonetic version of a difficult word and stick to it; others are of the wobbly kind. One of these latter is an inspector for a fire insurance agency. He was ordered to visit a certain premises daily and report the amount of inflammable material stored there. In his first list he mentioned a certain number of gallons of "kerosene."

"Funny that he always gets these words wrong," said a man in the office. "You'd think that he'd get them right once in a while under the law of chances."

"Oh, he does hit the nail on the head sometimes," declared another man. Thereupon a bet of cigars was made that in his next ten reports the inspector would not spell "kerosene" correctly.

This unique spelling bee, in which there was only one contestant, and he unconscious of the match, aroused keen daily interest. Here is his exact list:

Karosene, Caresene, Caresean, (three times), Carosene, Kerosene, Caresean, Karosean and Keriarese.

Thus on the seventh shot he hit the bulls-eye, and the bet was won by the man who didn't believe that the devil was as black as he was painted.

RATHER AMBIGUOUS.

When Weber and Fields were playing together a couple of husky western visitors, seeing New York for the first time, dropped into the Weberfield Museum of Drama to see the show.

"Which is Weber and which is Fields?" asked one, who forgot what a program was for.

"Darned if I know," replied the other. "But whichever is which, I'd rather be the other one."—Bohemian Magazine.

WHAT IT WAS.

She was visiting a Chinese restaurant for the first time, and had ordered among other things an omelet. After sampling the succulent chop suey and the appetizing chow mein, she turned her attention to what seemed a dish of pancakes. Puzzling over the combination of ham, onion, and other ingredients, she suddenly exclaimed to her companion: "Why, there's egg in this."

"Sure; it's the omelet," he replied.

ALBERT WAS THE STAR.

"So the performance was given in the open air, was it?" asked Mrs. Oldcastle. "Who were the chief actors?"
"I don't remember the names of any of them now," replied her hostess, as she placed $17,000 worth of rings and necklaces on the library table, "except that the one they talked about most was Albert Fresco. Have you ever seen him in anything?"

GOOD AVERAGE.

Madge—How did your summer campaign pan out?
Dolly—It was fairly successful. I captured five engagement rings and only two of them turned out to be paste.

NOT DISOBEDIENT.

"Why, uncle, I thought the doctor ordered you not to go out of doors this weather!"
"Well, I didn't. I climbed out of the window!"

A TOO PREVALENT IDEA.

Senator Beveridge was discussing the oratorical ability of a number of dumpy speakers. Of a rather long-winded gentleman he said:
"His idea of an orator seems to be a man who can keep on speaking after he has finished all he has to say."

THE FAMILY SKELETON.

Visitor—By George! But you've added a great many beautiful volumes to your library since I was here last. Must cost something, old man?
Mr. Mosker—On the level, Bill, I'm on the verge of bankruptcy buying souvenir postcard albums and bookcase sections to hold them.—Puck.
